

Teacher's Biography: Niamh Marguerita Coffey

Musician and primary school teacher in Oliver Plunkett School, Malahide, Co Dublin

Niamh Marguerita Coffey attended school in Malahide, Co. Dublin until 1997 both primary and second level. She was a member of her secondary school debating, basket-ball, tennis, and athletics teams. She trained as a Primary school teacher at St. Patricks College, Drumcondra, Co. Dublin, from where she graduated with a B. Ed (hons) and began teaching in St. Oliver Plunkett school, Malahide, Co. Dublin. She is a pianist and a violinist and has taught both instruments for a number of years. She also accompanies school musicals and performs at local events. Her other interests include producing and presenting a seasonal Youth Magazine program in Irish on local radio.